While traveling for a hotel management company, I've encountered a plethora of security agencies, notwithstanding the countless pitching and touting of one agency over another. What I've never experienced, is the sense of sincerity and certainly not the expected delivery of service from past security agencies.

So it struck me as a stark surprise to meet Mr. Thomas Bolling and Ambassador Worldwide Protection Agency. Mr. Boling looked intently in to my eyes and verbally delineated his intention and promise as an owner and also confessed, for his officers, what would be his duty to us as a potential client. Mr. Bolling spoke with an assuredness of a man founded by experience and knowledge of his field. Further, and more importantly, he has delivered every word in service to us.

It would behoove any interested agency, company, or firm to be equipped with Ambassador Worldwide Protection Agency. AWPA is a tool for success.
